Zombies, 1000s of 'em

No matter how much we might want the film Zulu to be remade with Zombies, it may not happen and to be honest Sir Michael Caine has never even replied to my many emails, but getting over that disappointment, we have an absolute tonne of Zombie events and Films to look forward to over the next few months...

"Calling all zombies! There is a horror calendar zombie photoshoot taking place in Hyde Park on Sunday 14th June. The calendar will be available at Frightfest 2009 as well as online, and will cover 8 decades of horror in pictures. Each month will feature some of the best horror films from a particular decade and we are currently looking for as many zombies as possible to appear in the "Night of the Living Dead & Dawn of the Dead" photographs. If you are interested drop me an email with your details to kimblebee85@hotmail.com and come along to the event on Sunday 14th June - We shall meet at speakers corner at 11am. Hope to see a lot of you there! Kimberley"

The main news from www.terror4fun.com is of course the up and coming Zombie Fest 2009, everything is set, forms are now available on the website and there are still places available, so if you fancy seeing if you would survive the Zombie Apocalypse, then come along and see if you would be one of the few with the skills to get the kills... or even just run away for long enough...

Also on the Terror4fun website is the 'Great British Zombie Survey' not just a few questions, but someone completing it going to win a Wii and a copy of CAPCOMs 'Dead Rising: Chop Till You Drop'

Now here's a notice for all of you...

Now, not only are Terror4fun based in Leicester, but the shooting for up and coming feature Zombie Undead has now finished and as an homage to them the main picture is a relaxed shot of some of the cast grabbing a well earned lie down and bite to eat... Find out more about the whole project at: <http://www.zombieundead.com/>

Please enjoy this Zombie Times responsibly...

PRIDE AND PREJUDICE AND ZOMBIES

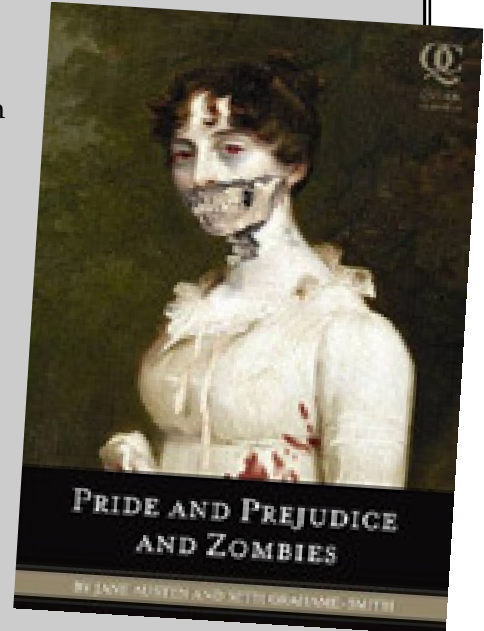

A book by Jane Austen & Seth Grahame-Smith
Jane Austen's Regency classic collides with zombie horror at its best in the first of a new monster literary mash-up genre. Complete with romance and civilised sparring, social satire and rotting corpses, Pride and Prejudice and Zombies transforms Jane Austen's masterpiece into a gory comedy of manners for a twenty-first century generation of readers. A mysterious plague has fallen upon England and the dead are returning to life.

In the quiet village of Meryton, feisty heroine Elizabeth Bennett is determined to wipe out the zombie menace, but she is soon distracted by the arrival of the haughty and handsome Mr Darcy. Elizabeth must call on all her kung fu training to combat the hordes of flesh-eating undead, not to mention a plague-stricken Mrs Collins, and Lady Catherine de Bourgh, whose deadly ninja skills have no equal. Austen admirers will be curious, horror buffs will be captivated and legions of new fans will be charmed by the latest adaptation of Pride and Prejudice.

Jane Austen is the author of Sense and Sensibility, Mansfield Park, Emma, Northanger Abbey and Persuasion, and lived in Hampshire. Seth Grahame-Smith is the author of How to Survive a Horror Movie and The Big Book of Porn. He lives in Los Angeles.

SURVIVE A ZOMBIE APOCALYPSE, THIS AUGUST IN EDINBURGH

A brand new show will be going to the Edinburgh Festival Fringe this year that focuses on everyone's favourite subject Zombies and more importantly how to survive when the undead rise. 'How To Survive A Zombie Apocalypse' is an inspiring and enlightening seminar that will teach you all the rudimentary skills required to get you through those tough times without focusing on firearms and explosives.

'In our research into Zombie survival we've found a lot of people focus on the use of heavy artillery in their contingency plans,' says Dr Dale Seslick the self professed survival guru 'But in the UK guns are quite difficult to come by and even if you have one at home you just don't know where you'll be when the outbreak begins – you could be in Tesco or at the gym or attending your weekly acupuncture appointment so you'll just have to make do with what you can get your hands on – which is what our seminar focuses on – How To Survive using everyday items and of course your own wit and wisdom.' There are already preview videos of the good Doctors teachings at youtube channel drdaleseslick but for more helpful hints and tips (ever wondered how to kill a zombie with a spatula or cure mental health problems with a stuffed toy) then get yourselves to Edinburgh in August..

YEAR OF THE DOG?

Hope all is good; just thought I would give you a bit of an update on the films, as many of you aren't on Facebook Group yet and don't receive the bulletins.

The final short film in 'The San Gwyn City Trilogy,' entitled 'Howling Brat,' is now complete, and due to be entered into festivals at the start of 2009. The first two films - 'Gasoline Blood' and 'Creeping Thirst' have been screened at over 20 international festivals now. After taking them to Cannes over the last couple of years, they have screened in Rio De Janeiro, Italy, San Jose, California, St.Petersberg, Frightfest Odeon Leicester Square and many more.

The stage we are at now is that we are seeking investment opportunities for the feature film version of 'Gasoline Blood.' We've been in talks with a couple of Producers and identifying the next stage in getting the project off the ground. I would ideally love to shoot it Summer 2009, but obviously it all depends on the financial side of things!

Please keep an eye on the website www.yotdfilms.com for updates.

ZOMBIES OF THE NIGHT

Zombies of the Night is a gripping British Indie Grindhouse flick. It was shot in Devon in the UK over 14 days and can best be described as a rural 28 days later, with a psychological and grindhouse twist. It's a very tense film, very intimate, following one young man as the world around him starts falling to pieces. Foot and Mouth has broken out in epidemic proportions and suddenly people are being turned in to zombies! It's not a scientific, discover a cure movie - it's a how the hell am I going to survive this adventure. The idea for the film was very simple. If I literally woke up to discover my parents had become zombies - what the hell would I do? Would I believe it?

Would I survive it? Who would believe me? We shot on 35mm lenses with the HVX200, our DOP Robbie Bryant really worked with the camera, trying to achieve some 'in-camera' grindhouse effects, as well as some beautiful shots, to give the film a truly layered visual style. Post production is currently underway with Maniac Films and Burn Hand Film Productions both giving us use of their edit, sfx and grading suites, whilst the score is composed and sound design created by the award winning Alan Deacon.

If you want to survive a zombie apocalypse, it's essential viewing. <http://www.zombiesofthenight.com/>

CREATE SOMETHING UNDEAD FOR LOST ZOMBIES

Lost Zombies is a social network whose goal is to document the zombie apocalypse and create the world's first community generated zombie documentary.

February 2007 - The Super Flu

The Super Flu pandemic begins in February of 2007 as common, seasonal influenza. By March the number of cases reported has quadrupled and the Flu strain is dubbed "The Super Flu". It proves resilient against influenza vaccines. On April 1st 2007 the World Health Organization announces that the Super Flu meets the three criteria of a Pandemic. There are protests in major cities, as the public demands healthcare for the uninsured.

May 2007 - Camp Saint Teresa

On May 1st the US Government working with FEMA and the CDC sets up a camp in the Nevada desert with the purpose of treating the uninsured sick. The US Government issues St. Teresa Passports to Hospitals across the country who are instructed to give the passports to uninsured patients in need. By June 1st all the passports have been issued. By mid June additional camps are set up in every state across the US.

July 2007 - The Champion Virus

In July the Super Flu mutates and the total death toll doubles in just a few weeks. The CDC dubs Super Flu, the Champion Virus. Reports of cases are coming in from every country on the globe. The United Nations declares a global state of emergency.

September 2007 - Dead and Attacking

On September 8th 2007 a 911 call is placed from somewhere in Northern California. The caller claims that he's at a pharmaceutical testing facility where they're testing Champion Virus treatments. The caller claims that some of the patients have died and are attacking people. The 911 operator asks if the patients are dead or are attacking to which the caller responds, "both." This is the first recorded case of zombie behavior resulting from the Champion Virus.

November 19th 2007 - Zombies

By November 2nd 2007 the infected reach Las Vegas. The city falls by the 3rd. The infected spread from there. The west coast is hit on the 5th by the 7th the east coast is infected. Estimates are that 75% of the population is dead or undead by the 19th of November. Survivors are on their own. The US Government and all it's agencies cease to function (As far as we know).

Present Day

The Champion Virus has reached its final mutation. The positive is that the virus is only transferable by bite, it is no longer an airborne virus. The negative is that the virus will, inevitably, take over the body and cause zombism. Present day survivors have spread out across the globe. You are one of them. Tell us your story.

Join Lost Zombies, create your own profile page, view photos and videos, take part in discussions, chat and submit content to be used in the documentary.

LATE MAY ON ZONE HORROR

(Sky 319, 320 Virgin 170
and Freesat 138)

Five friends head out to the country for a weekend of partying in Dr Chopper on May 18th at 02:25 but fall victim to a crazed plastic surgeon-come-biker and his zombie nurses who need the bodies of the young to survive! Bizarre, surreal and down right different, Dr Chopper pulls out all the stops to deliver an original zombie flick and delivers every time.

May 22nd holds another late night terror fest for you, this time at 02:40 we dare you to tune in for Zombie Flesh Eaters 2. Also known as Zombi 3 this one involves pesky terrorists who inadvertently release a chemical that turns those exposed into cannibalistic zombies facing scant resistance from soldiers and teenagers. Fulci suffered a stroke near the end of production and writer Claudio Fragasso took over directing duties. Fragasso actually helmed the next movie in this franchise that goes under a raft of titles including After Death and Zombi 4 which can be seen the following night at 02:40.

Also known as Hell of the Living Dead, Zombie Creeping Flesh on the 24th is a classic Italian gut-cruncher from Bruno Mattei and is one of those zombie movies that everyone needs to catch once in a lifetime. A centre dedicated to feeding the 3rd world suffers a chemical calamity turning their staff into zombies with a hankering for munching on mankind. Gruesome and shocking this is one of the zombie movies of the month. The flesh starts to creep at 02:30.

As with all TV channels the dates and times are subject to change so please go to www.zonehorror.tv for any last minute changes.

Dead Tide by Steven a. North

The general population receives no warning of the impending doom about to wash over them. The dead are coming back to life, filled with a single-minded urge to devour the living. While the power was on, some people follow the bigger picture on television, but the news media is little more than a chronicler of the disaster. Sadly, most people are better at becoming part of the problem than finding a way to solve it. Are there enough resilient survivors left to stem the rising dead tide of humanity?

ROB SACCHETTO, ZOMBIE ARTIST...

Before Rob !!!

When I was asked to say a few things for this e-zine, I thought about what it was that got me doing what I am right now. Growing up where I did in a Northern Ontario town, in Canada, there was a serious lack of art at my disposal. Short of visits to one of the few comic or book stores in this small city, there wasn't much available. I craved to sink my teeth into sci-fi and horror images. Tired of waiting for the next Bernie Wrightson or William Stout, I started to draw and create my own monster universe.

That was decades ago. Not much has changed for me artistically. I still draw every day, only now I get to share my art with the world, instead of the handful of friends who used to dig my stuff. Gong on three years ago, I decided to use my portraiture skills in a more gory way, and zombified myself and my wife for fun. Within weeks www.zombieportraits.com was up and the zombie portraits virus started to spread.

With hundreds of my army of undead paintings done, I still was searching for another creative outlet for all things zombie. And so I launched www.zombiedaily.com. This site allowed me to give something to horror/art fans for free... a new image illustrated and posted every single day! Where else could you get that? After posting hundreds of images, I took a few months off to finish my book, "The Zombie Handbook" due out this July. Well, the book is done, and zombiedaily.com is back with its official relaunch, May 18th. With daily illos posted and weekly podcasts done by yours truly and guests, this online sketchbook of quick sketches to full blown paintings, is my gift to all art fans out there, horror and otherwise.

Yours Truly,
Rob Sacchetto

After Rob has done his thing !!!

LAST OF THE LIVING

RELEASED ON DVD 11th MAY 2009

Those damned dead just won't die.....

A highly contagious virus is spreading throughout the land. With one bite, it's only hours before victims will turn into zombies and hunt for human flesh. Morgan, Ash, and Johnny might just be the only humans left, but they don't seem to mind and find enjoyment lounging around in their underwear living in vacant homes. When they stumble upon a hot girl who just may have a cure, the three decide it's finally time to step up to the plate and save the world- and the girl. Now the only hope for survival lies in their hands.

WORLD ZOMBIE DAY LONDON

THE ZOMBIE PROM

On the night of April 4th, the pavements of Holloway Road were splattered with blood. Thankfully in this instance it was fake, and dripping from the attendees of our Valentine's Zombie Prom!

The night and its multitude of organisers, helpers, donators and guests managed to raise over two thousand pounds for the homeless charity St Mungo's. More than 200 zombies in prom attire shambled on down to The Gaff (www.thegaffclub.com) and had a whole heap of bloody fun.

Zombie Cupid was also in attendance. He ended the night having lost his bow and arrows, minus a sandal and covered in gore after starting a blood fight in the crowd. The symbol of love and romance has never looked better!

The bands of the evening were 100 Robots, Tits of Death and Dirty Wee Middens. Every act blew the cobwebs away from what was left of our brains throughout the night - they too dressing to impress in formalwear smeared with guts. In between band sets DJs played tunes good enough to raise the dead, including chucklesome hits such as 'Stayin' Alive'.

Prom King and Queen Mister Andy Beard and Miss Alexys Bercerra were crowned at midnight, after admitting they were on their second date. It was a beautiful scene and those of us with eyes still in our sockets shed a little zombie tear of happiness...

The organisers and members of WZD London would like to take this opportunity to again thank everyone who made the night possible. From bands who put on such an amazing show, to the extremely generous souls who donated to the raffle, to those who bought a ticket and made such an amazing effort with their costumes - and everyone in between! We could not have done it without you and we amazed ourselves at how well the night went. Please keep an eye on our Facebook group ("World Zombie Day: London") for upcoming events for more zombie larks and japes later this year!

This Article and the London Zombiewalk were the work of Jo Finlay, who is a bloody Zombie Legend already, so to stay in touch with all of the capitals events, look on FACEBOOK for WORLD ZOMBIE DAY:LONDON.

ABADDON BOOKS THE NEW ZOMBIE NOVEL

Tomes of the Dead: Way of the Barefoot Zombie
by Jasper Bark

OUT SOON... Jun 2009 (UK) Oct 2009 (US)

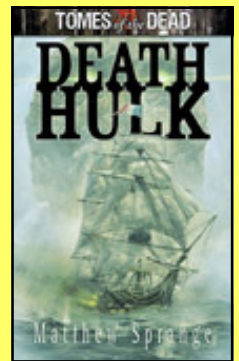

On a private island in the Caribbean, business guru Doc Papa has reinvented the zombie as a role-model for the super-rich. The world's business elite come to St. Ignatius to study the Way of the Barefoot Zombie and interact with a captive colony of the undead. They live with them, dress like them and act like them in order to free their own inner zombies. Once they've learned to harness the zombie's single minded lust for food nothing will stop them from making a killing on the global markets. However, Doc Papa's plans for dominating the world's business arena go awry when the island is infiltrated by undercover operatives from the Zombie Liberation Front and a rogue priestess from Doc Papa's past. Real Voodoo and social satire collide in this gore-drenched tale of greed and global profit.

Abaddon Books are giving you the chance to win a copy of one of their previous titles in the 'Tomes of the Dead' series... The amazing Death Hulk... So just enter the competition, the details are on the back of this Zombie Times e-zine!

ZOMBO

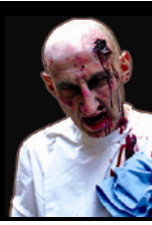

Scripted by Al Ewing and drawn by Henry Flint, two of 2000 AD's wildest imaginations come together for a bizarre, blackly comic 8-part series that's 'Lost' meets 'Death Planet'. When Flight 303 from Ganymede to the Epsilon-6 orbiting station suffers terminal system failure, the ship crashlands on the mysterious planet Chronos. All thirty-three on board survive the crash, but when they realise what lies in wait for them they'll wish they'd never crawled from the wreckage. And just why are the two government employees worried when their secret cargo starts to wake up...?

ZOMBIE WOMEN OF SATAN

At the time of writing (May 10), this forthcoming UK comedy horror movie is currently shooting. Featuring a wild plot about a freakshow burlesque troupe who are caught up in a rock singer's quest to rescue her abducted sister from a bizarre cult - we got a few words from the man behind it all - Warren Speed. "The shoot is going incredibly well and we believe we are currently in the middle of making something very special indeed. We have bags of genuine comedy in it along with lots of semi-naked zombie babes and OTT kick ass zombie slaying! "What more could anyone want? This is the fked up kind of movie we've all been waiting for! <http://www.zwosthemovie.com/>

DEAD UPRISING NEEDS YOU !!!

The zombie film now called "Dead Uprising" is our first major production, and hopefully our best. Although scripting has been complete for some time now, production was confirmed on world zombie day, when we saw how many people would willingly get involved in the event. Although the majority of our main cast is complete, we are in need of extra's and makeup artists to assist. We will be taking a new look on the undead, being the swift killing machines of the remakes at first, then the Romero spawn that we love as rigor-mortis kicks in. On to the plot outline. As five friends reach their final year of education, they notice something is amiss in the world. Frenzied radio signals come over from Europe, dead bodies are turning up on the street and rioting is reported in London. Before long, the dead begin to rise in Southampton, adding to their ranks with each new victim. With nowhere else to go, the friends head to the safest place they know, their school. There's just one problem. Despite being only a few blocks away, there is 10,000 dead in the way.

The Sick and the Dead - on DVD NOW!

Flynn, Alex and Joe were right in the middle of ordinary lives when a zombie plague led them on a detour through a world of terror. One year later, they're no longer the same people they once were: one -- a bloodthirsty psychopath, one -- a survivalist and one -- an unlikely hero. Surrounded by the flesh-eating undead, the three come together to form an uneasy alliance. But who offers the bloodier fate, the walking dead or the psychotic living?

ZOMBIES PLAY THE GAME?

Zombies!!! Is a board game from Twilight Creations that puts you in the middle of the action as you try to escape the ever advancing zombie horde. Players must use a combination of wits and brawn to be the first to the heliport and certain escape. The only problem is, the zombies are everywhere, they appear to be very hungry and your opponents would really prefer if you didn't escape.

Check www.twilightcreationsinc.com/ for details of all of the Zombies Games AND extra rules, competitions and other strange activities to be carried out in the presence of a plastic zombie...

Competition Time

Want to win a bloody rare T-Shirt or signed copy of the game. Check out the comp on the back page of this Zombie Times.

Release Date: June 12th

Jake West, director of such films as Razor Blade Smile, Evil Aliens and Pumpkinhead: Ashes to Ashes, is back with DOGHOUSE, a very British undead movie starring Danny Dyer...

A group of men head to a remote village to help one of their friends get over his divorce; when they get there, though, they discover that all the women have been infected with a virus that makes them man-hating cannibals.

The film is getting released throughout 200 cinemas on June 12th and looks like one that should not be missed... For more details visit the official site at: <http://www.doghousethemovie.co.uk/>
