DAY OF THE UNDEAD ZOMBIE FILMS FOR 09

Dawn of the Dead. Dir: George Romero. USA 1978, 2hrs 6mins, 18. 12noon. Considered by many to be the finest of Romero's "Dead" movies, this classic fusion of zombie obsession and consumer culture acts as a benchmark for all zombie films that have followed.

Pontypool. Dir: Bruce McDonald. USA 2008, 1hr 35mins, 15. 2.30pm. This brilliantly creepy Canadian flick is based on the idea that a zombie virus gets spread around the wintery town of Pontypool by none other than the English Language.

Dead Snow. Dir: Tommy Wirkola. Norway 2009, 1hr 32mins, subtitled, 18. 4.30pm. When a group of keen medical students set-out on a ski trip in the remote wastelands of Norway the last thing they expect to find are Nazi zombies. A zom-com to savour. "Ein! Zwei! Die!"

Zombie Shorts: 6.15pm. Take a sanguine breather with two exquisite genre shorts that take puppetry to new heights while the death of a clown blows away all pretence of being funny.

Zombie Undead. Dir: Rhys Davies. UK 2009, 1hr 28mins, 18. 7pm. A sneak preview of Leicester's own zombie masterpiece, this impressive local feature has been several years in the making and will be screened ahead of its world premier at Phoenix Square in January. The director and writer will be holding a Q & A following the film...

La Horde. Dirs: Yannick Dahan & Benjamin Rocher. France 2009, 1hr 30mins, subtitled, 18. 9.30pm. When a bunch of trigger-happy cops enter a tower-block-from-Hell in the infamous Parisian "projects" on a mission to blow away some gangstas, the last thing they're expecting is a hi-rise full of zombies with attitude.

Zombieland. Dir: Ruben Fleischer. USA 2009, 1hr 28mins, 15. 11.30pm. Columbus & Tallahassee are major league survivors in a world over-run by the undead. But nothing is perfect and there's only so much serious blood-letting a couple of good men can stand. Very smart, very funny, and the perfect off-its-head climax to our smorgasbord of re-animated flesh.

To BOOK your tickets phone the Phoenix Box Office Monday to Saturday from 9am to 9pm on (0116) 242 2800

KILL ZOMBIES... WIN A WII...

DAY OF THE UNDEAD

NOVEMBER 28TH, 2009 - PHOENIX SQUARE, LEICESTER

If you can slay the most Virtual Undead, in the time limit set, then you will win a Nintendo Wii, supplied by CAPCOM... The competition takes place at the Day of the Undead Festival on November 28th, we are keeping the game setting and the time limit secret until the day, so people will not be able to practice too much... Just in case you have never been addicted to one of the most epic of all XBOX 360 games, here's the plot for you...

Dead Rising follows the harrowing tale of Frank West, an overly zealous freelance photojournalist on the hunt for the scoop of a lifetime. In pursuit of a juicy lead, he makes his way to a small suburban town only to find that it has become overrun by zombies.

He escapes to the local shopping mall, thinking it will be a bastion of safety yet it turns out to be anything but. It will be a true struggle to survive the endless stream of enemies, but players will have full reign of a realistic shopping centre, utilizing anything they find to fight off the flesh-hungry mob and search for the truth behind the horrendous epidemic.

THE FIRST SCREENING OF ZOMBIE UNDEAD

DAY OF THE UNDEAD
NOVEMBER 28TH, 2009 - PHOENIX SQUARE, LEICESTER

Well it's been a couple of years in the making but here we are... the end of the road in site. In what seems like two and a half of the longest years on record Zombie Undead is almost ready to be unleashed on the gore loving public... and about time too! I think it's safe to say that the cast and crew are feeling a mixture of relief and excitement and that all of the hard work and long hours are finally going to pay off. A fair few ridiculously early Saturday and Sunday morning shoots often lasting for 14 hours at a time. Working fulltime day jobs and then coming home to work on SFX, editing, sound, grading, music etc... just to name a few.

It's safe to say that it's been a bit of a rollercoaster ride and at times has probably felt like it would never end... but the negatives have been far outweighed by the positives. I don't think anyone involved would swap the experiences for anything (other than a massive budget... a few hundred crew members... helicopter explosion scenes etc etc) after all it's all important experience for when we decide to move onto the next project.

Well we were all set for the first showing of the film to be premiered at the new Phoenix building (which it has to be said is pretty amazing!) in March when a certain Mr Zombie Ed suggested we show a sneak preview of ZU a bit earlier than scheduled. Admittedly we were a bit concerned... mainly because we hadn't finished the film! However the more we thought about it the better an idea it sounded and we couldn't think of anywhere better to do a test screening than at the awesome 'Day of the Undead' festival. So although the version you will see won't necessarily be the end product it'll be pretty darn close. If I'm honest the fact that we get to be on the same bill as Bill Murray is actually what swung it in the end!

I think I'm speaking for everyone involved in ZU when I say that we'll all be feeling a mixture of both nerves and excitement come the 28th November, after all this will be the first time virtually anyone outside of the project will have seen the footage and probably the first time some of the guys involved in ZU would have seen it too. All I can say is that if you haven't already ordered your tickets for 'Day of the Undead' then I suggest you do so not just because of Zombie Undead but because it always ends up being bloody amazing. I think it's safe to say that this year's event with the likes of Zombie Land, Dawn of the Dead and all the gore fuelled activities that a day of blood brings is looking to be pretty damn exciting! So Zombie-up and get down to the Phoenix! Keep on rotting in the free world!

For those of you who don't know, one of the main actors in the film is the author of this article Kris Tearse, the make up was produced by The Zombie Times' own Gav'n Gore and them along with Director Rhys Davies will be at the Day of the Undead.

ZOMBIE WESTERN ... IT CAME FROM THE DESERT

The Greatest Zombie Short in the World?

DAY OF THE UNDEAD
NOVEMBER 28TH, 2009 - PHOENIX SQUARE, LEICESTER

Virgil lives alone with his bully father and a mute bartender and he is being mocked by the two tough cowboys Eddie and Hank. Because of The Dark Butcher who has been terrorizing the local Indian tribe, the Indians see no other way, than bringing the dead to live by performing The Forbidden Rituals. When the Zombies suddenly attack the saloon, action begins and true characters are brought to daylight.

The film is inspired by Sergio Leones's classic Westerns as well as the legendary films by Peter Jackson and George A. Romero and there are several references to the genres to be found in the film. The style is a mixture of hand held puppets and animation. Besides the funny characters and the gory action, it is the richness of highly prepared and surprising details that makes this film a unique experience full of dark humour.

ZOMBIES NEEDED FOR ART ATTACK

James got in touch with the Zombie Times and is looking to setup a Zombie photo-shoot to create an art set for a personal project. The idea is to get a few people made up in great Zombie makeup and he will produce a set of very dark, emotive and gritty art pieces in an abandoned building. I will then provide these to the participants as a thank you for getting involved. The shoot will happen in the Hampshire/Surrey area in the New Year... LISTEN TO THIS ZOMBIE SONG !!!

The five Bingo Brothers are the pride and joy of northern New Jersey where they grew up under the watchful eye of Papa B, owner of Bingo Boys Pizzeria, where all five boys worked as soon as they could walk. It was during 12 hour days in the sweltering kitchen of the Pizzeria that the boys discovered that they had a knack for singing and harmonizing. Together they started writing songs that the boys would practice night and day to the delight of the patrons of the Pizzeria.

Zombie Survival Guide: Recorded Attacks

by Max Brooks

From the Stone Age to the information age, the undead have threatened to engulf the human race, here are the grisly and heroic stories complete with eye-popping artwork that pulsates with the hideous faces of the undead. Scripted by the world's leading zombie authority, Max Brooks, 'Recorded Attacks' reveals how other eras and cultures have dealt with, and survived, the ancient viral plague.

Hungry Hearts

By Gary McMahon

Rick Nutman is a policeman and when the city of Leeds erupts into blood-spattered chaos he must fight through hungry hordes of the undead to return home and protect Sally, his new wife, the only woman he has ever loved. Daryl lives with his ill mother and views the current apocalypse as the perfect opportunity to put his plans into action, he has always wanted to be a serial killer.

Dead Walk

By Andy Black and Steve Earles

A highly informative and entertaining study of the diverse zombie film phenomenon. Included are a visual feast of wide-ranging and often shocking films from the monochromatic epics of the 1930s-1940s, the science fiction-oriented films of the 1950s and the video nasties of the 1980s.

ZOMPOC: How to survive the Zombie Apocalypse by Michael G. Thomas and Nick S. Thomas

Meticulously researched and vigorously detailed this important survival manual is the most detailed and up-to-date book you will find to keep you and your family safe during the Zompoc (Zombie Apocalypse). All subjects from zombie identification, first-aid, escape techniques, household defence, combat techniques and raiding through to bartering, supplies, vehicle modification, weapons and convoy structure are all covered in great detail.

MUSICAL ZOMBIES REQUIRED

Did that grab your attention?

If so you might be the kind of person I'm looking for. I'm looking to start a band heavily themed around ZOMBIES and all things terrifying and spooky.

I'm looking for a guitarist, female vocalist, a drummer and would certainly welcome interest from a keyboardist or other musicians. I've got great ideas for strong visual imagery in the band. Musically nothing is set in stone as yet but was hoping to take influences from a number of genres such as Classic rock, punk, and surf. If this sounds like your kind of thing why not give drop me an email as soon as you can to:

Email: zombiebandmusic@googlemail.com

THE WORLD SHALL HEAR FROM US AGAIN! SAYS GRIMM UP NORTH

Grimm Up North 09 is over! But there will be more to come! To keep up to date with future GRIMMFEST events please keep an eye on www.grimmfest.com over the coming months.

The films have screened, the guests have all gone home, the exhibitions have all been packed away. The blood stained, traumatised and shell-shocked audiences have all stumbled off back to their various bolt-holes and underground lairs and crypts and once again the shadows have lifted and daylight has returned to the city of Manchester.

Now at the event, due to illness the Quiz mistress wasn't able to oversee our creepy competitions and so was unable to dispose of as many of the pulse-pounding, horror-tastic prizes as we'd hoped. And so we have a problem and that is simple that they are still cluttering up the office, making the place look untidy, causing risk to life and limb.

But fear not. Don't delay! To be in with a chance of winning, you will need to visit the website www.grimmfest.com and go to the contacts page. Register for future newsletters and enter the comps!!!

We will give you two weeks to reply with your answers and will hold prize draws on these competitions in the last week of November, giving you a chance to win and Grimm to a chance to get the stuff out of their office!!!

zone horror

Decembers Zone Horror (Sky 319, 320 Virgin 170 & Freesat 138)

We kick off our month of undead drama on Thursday December 3rd at 22:45 with the shocker Zombies! Zombies! Zombies!. This titillating terror contains a cast chock-full of stunning actors and concerns an experiment that goes awry creating a horde of flesh hungry zombies that go on a bloody rampage. They then find themselves up against an incredibly shapely enemy, a band of weapon wielding strippers!

Then on Sunday the 6th Tobe Hooper's Mortuary opens for business at 00:45. A recently widowed woman named Leslie moves her family into a small town mortuary where a malevolent evil lurks underfoot. Bleak, raw and utterly unnerving, Mortuary continued Hooper's return to form that started with The Toolbox Murders which you can catch on December 13th at 00:35.

Meat is literally murder on Wednesday 10th at 2:50 when we serve up Dead Meat. When her friend is bitten by a surprisingly sprightly corpse and turns into a flesh muncher, Helena flees for her life. Turns out mad cow disease turns humans into zombies. Who knew?

The stunning and critically acclaimed movie Zombie Diaries gets an airing on December 17th at 00:50. This British horror concerns a viral outbreak that makes the dead rise, and as the world succumbs to the shuffling zombie masses, three groups of survivors witness the carnage and fight for survival. This is followed at 2:40 by another apocalyptic gut-muncher, Mutants.

Evolution on the 30th has an alien life form resurrecting the dead and turning them on the human race. It's down to a young scientist to fight and contain the catastrophe and eradicate the alien menace. A great blending of genres this is a great way to start off your New Year celebrations!

As with all TV channels the dates and times are subject to change so please go to www.zonehorror.tv for any last minute changes and join us on Twitter.

NIGHT OF THE LIVING DEAD. REANIMATED

DAY OF THE UNDEAD
NOVEMBER 28TH, 2009 - PHOENIX SQUARE, LEICESTER

This Film will be playing throughout the Day of the Undead at Phoenix Square and Artist Kit Cox will be on hand to talk to anyone with Questions...

Neoflux Productions is pleased to present ...
Night of the Living Dead: Reanimated.

Night of the Living Dead: Reanimated a video based art show. Artists from around the world were invited to select scenes from the original film and make them their own. With no restrictions on style, media or process the resulting works ranged from oil paintings to comic illustrations and sock puppets to digital animation. These works were then curated into a visual track of artwork and set to the audio of George A. Romero's masterpiece, 'Night of the Living Dead'.

NOTLD:R is not meant to replace the original film but rather to supplement your viewing experience by allowing you to see the film through the eyes and hands of these talented individuals.

Production:

'Night of the Living Dead' has a long history of being exploited which stems from it becoming public domain on a technicality. This has given many groups the legal right to be ethically questionable and so not to become part of that tradition, the first rule established for the project was that it would be free media. This means no money was spent in production, no profits will be claimed from its exhibit or release and everyone involved in every aspect of production would be doing so on a volunteer basis out of their love of art and the original film. The second rule was simply that there would not be any arbitrary restrictions placed on the artwork, as each submission should be the artist's personal response to the original film as depicted through their artwork. The only guidelines imposed on the artists were that all submissions had to match audio cues (so it would sit with the original film's audio track), be black and white (to avoid vertigo when the screen rapidly jumps between works) and be the artist's original artwork (so everyone is properly accredited). From there, a prospectus was written and emailed to artists already exploring the themes (and in some cases the imagery) of 'Night of the Living Dead' through their artwork.

As the first works were completed and shown, more artists understood and became interested in the project. Through word of mouth and supportive press, the project's team of artists quickly developed into an entire horde of creative individuals who were as passionate about the film as they were about the works they were submitting. By free file hosting and an endless line of emails, we continued to chip away at the time line, often only a few seconds at a time, until there was enough artwork to cover the entire story. These works were then curated directly on top of the original film to create the video art show.
