An historic zombie walk is taking place during this weekend, as pro-zombie party 'Citizens for Undead Rights & Equality' – which fielded four candidates in the UK General Election – takes its cause to Parliament.

The party is organising a zombie gathering in Old Palace Yard opposite the Houses of Parliament on Bank Holiday Monday, from 12:30pm – 2:00pm – and spaces are still available for any zombies who want to support the cause.

Everyone who attends dressed as a zombie will receive a copy of Dead Rising 2 on PlayStation 3 or Xbox when it is released, along with a limited edition 'Zombies are People too' t-shirt. The best-dressed zombie will shuffle away with a games console.

Dead Rising 2: Played by Zombies...

www.youtube.com/watch?v=XSMCauG8IZ

In order to claim your loot, you must pre-register by emailing your name(s) to: votecure@googlemail.com before midday on Sunday 29th August. Successful applicants will receive confirmation on their place & and full details of the day by 6:00pm that day.

CURE's manifesto promises include:

- To permit the marriage of living and the undead
- To increase the minimum statutory retirement age to beyond death
- To make cemeteries more comfortable for their inhabitants

Do your best to support this worthy cause – and bag some excellent free stuff along the way.

Yes, we are thrilling the world AGAIN this year: Saturday, October 23, 2010 @ 11:00am GMT/UTC AND @ 11:00pm GMT/UTC. Yes TWO times!

For details, go here: <http://thrilltheworld.com/events>

Now, I know this website has not been updated --- we are working on a new one. And, I know that event registration is not open yet --- I was working on some "negotiations" but they all fell through so now I'm trying to make due with what I've got and get the Event Manager materials and rules out to you ASAP. Hopefully, the new site and event registration will be up and running by mid-July. Until then, keep planning, keep dancing (or teaching) and keep thrilling!

Our goals for this year:

1. for Guinness to grant us our own category (I mean, they made categories for largest simultaneous dances of Bollywood, Sevillanis, YMCA & umbrellas. Yes, umbrellas?!?)
2. Garner support from MJ Estate & Sony
3. Develop sponsorship with major companies
4. Have over 1 million people dancing world-wide!!! (Michael would be proud, for sure.) Please check back to this site soon for event registration.

Thank you for your continued support and patience!

2 DAYS LATER SHORT HORROR FILMMAKING COMPETITION 2010

2 Days Later is a short horror film competition specifically designed to encourage filmmakers, enthusiasts and students to produce a 10 minute horror film in only 48 hours on a micro-budget. All competition entries are shown to a public audience, and judged by a panel of film industry professionals, competing for film industry donated prizes at a special Halloween Screening Event in Margate. Winning submissions will also receive global website exposure and international promotion to other film festivals and film industry organisations.

"It's a rare and free opportunity for budding filmmakers to actually see how an audience reacts to their work in a friendly and relaxed atmosphere" encourages Festival Co-Director Mick Etherton

Over 200 films have so far been made for East Kent's biggest film festival event that actually generates specific film production for its very own competition screening.

There is a series of free "Introduction to filmmaking" one day workshops to encourage and inform aspiring and novice filmmakers how to make their very own horror film. The competition unearths hidden potentials and nurtures filmmaking talents and confidence. It raises the profile of local and national talent to film industry catalyst for local actors, writers, filmmakers and musicians to work collectively, strengthening their creative skills and utilising individual expertise.

Interested in creating your own 10 minute horror and screening it in front of a live audience? Then download the brief here.

FREE ZOMBIE BOOK FOR YOU

The Return Man by V.M. Zito...

Forty Million Hungry Corpses, BUT he's only looking for one... Whose corpse are you looking for? Four years after the zombie apocalypse, Henry Marco is a professional "corpse tracker" — hired by grieving survivors to find resurrected friends and family in the Evacuated States. Whether you've lost your wife, your husband, your child... just sign the contract, and Marco will return your suffering loved one to the beyond. A bullet in the brain brings peace to all. But when Marco is forced to accept a government hit on the corpse of a mysterious doctor, it's a contract that may be impossible to survive — a suicide mission into a wasteland of 40 million meat-craving corpses, pitting him against a ruthless Chinese assassin on the same trail. And even more dangerous is the truth waiting for Marco someplace in the Arizona desert... the truth about the one corpse he cannot find. His own lost wife, Danielle. The first chapters of "The Return Man" are now online at www.HireTheReturnMan.com

DEAD RISING 2

FIRST UK GAMEPLAY

The first games of Dead Rising 2 from CAPCOM were played at Zombiefest 2010, in the middle of August... The lads from the AdWagon came down with a playable game and the zombies at the event were all too willing to 'lay the smack' on some undead fools...

The Game play was beautiful, the maps bigger, kills better and combining weapons was amazing fun and it did seem more brutal and unbelievably better than the original Dead Rising.

THE HORDE TAKING THE BIG SCREEN BY STORM

'Assault On Precinct 13' meets 'Dawn Of The Dead' in The Horde, the latest addition to the ever-rising wave of superlative French horror cinema. This impressive debut feature from writing-directing team Yannick Dahan and Benjamin Rocher is a must-see for zombie movie fans, not least because it features some of the most awesome, edge-of-your-seat, close-combat human versus zombie beat-downs ever committed to film.

When a police detective is found murdered by a gang of mobsters, a small group of his closest colleagues on the force take it upon themselves to avenge his death vigilante-style. Heavily armed and determined to see justice done, they infiltrate the upper floors of the suburban high-rise apartment block that serves as the criminals' hide-out, during the raid things go wrong and the cops find themselves taken prisoner and tortured.

It's not long before the gang of criminals and their captive cops realize they are trapped together on the top floor of an unfortified building that is becoming rapidly infested with blood-thirsty legions of the living dead.

The Horde (Momentum Pictures) will be released in UK cinemas from 17th September.

ZOMBIEFEST 2010. 100 PER CENT FATAL

This year Zombiefest was yet again a blood soaked, zombie based weekend of fun and death in beautiful middle England...

dead, everyone died again... Which means that for the third year running the Living Dead beat the living into submission...

The Friday consisted of drinking debauchery and a programme of short films from the super serious, bloody and violent to those with their tongues firmly planted within their cheeks... Following this on the Saturday morning came the infamous and notoriously difficult Zombie Shooting and Archery and then the Main Event occurred early Saturday afternoon... Lead Vs. Dead.

With over 100 people in full Wild West Costume after a total of seven and half hours of zombie mayhem - actors, props, costumes and thousands of rounds of ammunition being shot at the living

Later on the Saturday the AdWagon arrived and let the assembled corpses have a first UK play of Dead Rising 2, the new CAPCOM game, due out in October, so into the night the Zombies of Cosgrove, bashed in brains and mulled the Shamblers ...

Sunday was the heady mixture of tea, prize givings, speeches and bacon rolls and then battling the various hoovers left on the site to try and get it all ship shape again, just in time for next year... Oh God...

THE DEAD BY CHARLIE HIGSON

The prequel to the Enemy....

A terrible disease is striking everyone over the age of fourteen. Death walks the streets. Nowhere is safe. Maxie, Blue and the rest of the Holloway crew aren't the only kids trying to escape the ferocious adults who prey on them. Jack and Ed are best friends, but their battle to stay alive tests their friendship to the limit as they go on the run with a mismatched group of other kids – nerds, fighters, misfits. And one adult, a butcher, who claims he's immune to the disease. They must work together if they want to make it in this terrifying new world. But as a fresh disaster threatens to overwhelm London, they realize they won't all survive.

Charlie Higson is a well-known writer of screenplays and novels, and is the author of the phenomenally successful Young Bond series. He is also a performer and co-creator of The Fast Show and Radio Four's award-winning Down the Line series, which was recently made into a popular BBC2 sketch show, Bellamy's People. Charlie is a big fan of horror films and is now hoping to give a great many children sleepless nights with this series. Available from September 16th, 2010.

STRANGE ZOMBIES, PART 12

I just recently made a zombie wedding cake and thought you guys might enjoy to see some pictures of it. I made all the zombies out of modelling chocolate. It was my first time ever sculpting so it was quite a learning experience! I also modelled the bride and groom out of chocolate to resemble them. The cake was made to bleed when they cut into it for their first slice. I researched zombies quite a bit prior to modelling them and have found a new respect for the zombie world. www.SweetLarissas.com Larissa XXX

THE ART OF ZOMBIE WARFARE

How to Kick Ass Like the Walking Dead

This manual provides a review of the tactical combat advantages enjoyed by zombies and gives the reader a step-by-step guide to adopting them for him or herself. Have you wondered where the great military leaders of modern history have found their collective inspirations?

We'll look no further. It is the walking dead upon whom the most important tactical infantry innovations of the last three hundred years have been based.

Do you dream of becoming a soldier who fights with the efficacy and skill of a zombie?

Are you a general or commander seeking to imbue your troops with the ruthless, soulless killing-efficiency of an animated corpse?

Are you a voodoo priest or wizard desiring to raise an actual army of zombies to help you conquer the land and install yourself as ruler?

Then, friend, this is the book for you. With this book, you will learn how to fight without weapons, communicate wordlessly, and enjoy the multifarious battlefield-strategy benefits that come with always just walking straight at the enemy. Written by the author of The Zen of Zombie and Z.E.O., The Art of Zombie Warfare is the most authoritative tome available today on the subject of zombie combat.

NIGHT OF THE LIVING TREKKIES

This novel, from the truly zombie obsessed Quirk Books, is something that will appear to the inner fanboy in almost all of us... The story follows a rag-tag group of Trekkies en route to an annual Star Trek convention. Arriving with homemade uniforms, glued-on prosthetics, and plastic phasers, these fanboys know more than any rational adult should know about Kirk, Spock, Next Generation, particle physics, black holes, and Ricardo Montalban. But when aliens release a zombie plague upon the Earth, all of this Starfleet training suddenly becomes a lot more relevant. Our fanboys find themselves trapped in the Botany Bay Hotel and Convention Centre - and desperate to escape. Some will be assimilated. Others will summon the courage of their favourite characters and perform brave feats of heroism. And one reluctant fan will discover his inner Trekkie, rise up, and take command of the crew. Available from September 1st...

THERES A NEW ZOMBIE PUBLISHER IN TOWN

With an already impressive line up of Zombie Novels, check out Severed Press, their books are available from Amazon... This is the kind of publisher we should all be encouraging and supporting...

Zombie Zoology an Unnatural History: A truly original anthology of never before published stories of living dead beasts. Inside you will find tales of prehistoric creatures rising from the Bog, a survivalist taking on a troop of rotting baboons, a NASA experiment going Ape, A hunter going a Moose too far and many more undead creatures from Hell. The crawling, buzzing, flying abominations of mother nature have risen.

Resurrection: The rain is falling and the dead are rising. It began at an ultra-secret government laboratory. Experiments in limb regeneration-an unspeakable union of Medieval alchemy and cutting edge genetics result in the very germ of horror itself: a gene trigger that will reanimate dead tissue...any dead tissue. Now it's loose.

t's gone viral. It's in the rain. And the rain has not stopped falling for weeks. As the country floods and corpses float in the streets, as cities are submerged, the evil dead are rising. And they are hungry.

Zombie Movies on Horror Channel July and August 2010 (Sky 319, 320 Virgin 170 and Freesat 138)

As the nights draw in and temperatures start to drop Horror Channel is turning up the heat with another month packed with blood-drenched gut-munchers that will satisfy even the most thirsty gorehound. We have a flesh eating double bill on the 1st starting at 21:00 with the bloody Days Of Darkness. The flesh-eating walking dead have risen and taken over the planet, now a small mismatched group of survivors must take up arms before they're bitten clean off! This is followed at 22:55 with the premiere of one of the finest shockers from the last few years, Bruce McDonald's Pontypool. It concerns a virus that turns people into ultra-violent maniacs. When it's discovered the condition is transmitted by language, will a shock jock shut up and hide, or spread the word? Tense, claustrophobic and truly frightening this is horror at its most pure and is memorable for all the right reasons. The 3rd also holds a premiere at 22:55, this time it's a classic from Lucio Fulci, City Of The Living Dead. Also known as Gates of Hell, this bloody shocker was Fulci's film after Zombie Flesh Eaters. A priest's suicide opens the gates of Hell, paving the way for the dead to rise and slaughter the living. Graphic and shocking, this was made when Fulci was at the height of his powers and was delivering the most interesting horror around. Fans of Fulci should note that The Beyond is showing on the 4th at the same time.

We'll take you to Zombie Town on the 5th at 22:55 if you dare to come. This corking gut-muncher is set in a remote village where a parasitic plague transforms the population into brain-chomping zombies. Can a group of friends fight off the shuffling undead hoards?

At the same time on the 6th a grisly shocker will be waiting for you. In Charles Band's horror/comedy Grisly a gang that collects deformed freaks of nature must band together with the FBI agents investigating them, when their ghoulish specimens reanimate and viciously turn on them. Original and fun this one shows off Band's wicked sense of humour.

More premiere action on the 8th at 22:55 where the urban jungle becomes the focus for terror in Last Rites. When a meteor crashes in LA, two rival gangs and the watching police officers are infected by other-worldly spores that transform into flesh hungry fiends. Not your normal zombie movie this one takes the genre into a new arena and has much to offer the viewer.

Dead And Deader on the 10th at 21:00 is flesh-munching shocker starring former Superman Dean Cain. A soldier is bitten by a diseased bug turning him into a half-zombie, but his comrades aren't so lucky and become full-blown shuffling undead.

Get ready to rumble on Monday the 13th at 22:55 as the Horror Channel presents the smack-down shock-fest Zombie King. With a zombie plague raging, a band of spandex-clad masked wrestlers band together to pummel the undead hordes and defeat the evil Zombie King. Outrageous, fun and truly original this is the perfect Monday night movie with all your mates around.

Wild, wild west action on 16th as the western/horror hybrid, Undead Or Alive hits the Horror Channel. Starring Desperate Housewives hunk James Denton the movie concerns a military deserter and a cowboy who rob a corrupt sheriff, but they don't bank on an Apache curse unleashing a very hungry zombie hoard. The stage-coach will be ready at 21:00.

A premiere not to miss is on the 17th at 22:55, is Jim Mickle's contemporary shocker Zombie Virus On Mulberry Street. Six tenants of a tumbledown tenement are faced with surviving a diseased pack of rats, whose bite is turning their human victims into blood-thirsty mutants.

Then on the 23rd at 22:55 Matthew Davis, he of The Vampire Diaries fame stars in the comedy/horror Wasting Away. Four friends unwittingly become zombies and attempt to reverse the transformation.

THE HORROR-BLE WORLD OF ZOMBIE MAKE UP

ZOMBLIES - CUNNING STUNTS

I first started work as a stunt performer through Realm Pictures on their first feature Zombies. It was from this indie no budget film that I finally gained the confidence to pursue my dream of creating kick ass action sequences and brutal fights for film and theatre. Since Zombies I have had the privilege to work with a huge number of talented individuals performing and coordinating stunts and fights for all sorts of projects from classical theatre to professional film. This being the Zombie Times though, I know what you're interested in so here is the story of the stunts for Zombies.

Zombies is a balls to the wall zombie action film made on a budget of less than £10,000 complete with air strike, robotic guns, digital zombie hords in the thousands and amazing visual effects all created by very talented individuals who have now either joined Realm full time or landed kick ass industry jobs. However, you can't create everything on a computer and for those who think you can your not going to get that far.

The stunt industry is alive and well and getting more advanced and specialised every year. Be it taking a real moment and expanding it with CG or simply making a chase more exciting with the addition of a stair fall or head butts, stunts are there to ground a film in reality and to give an audience a real sense of wonder.

The fact that they have just witnessed someone fall of a cliff while on fire is all the more exciting and of course believable when they know it actually happened.

Also the appreciation that whoever did it is still alive and well because of their skill and expertise is something that adobe just can't match.

I joined the Zombies shoot initially as an extra but I soon realised that I was spending a lot of time teaching my fellow extras how to fall over safely and convincingly and brainstorming with the crew about new gags inspired by the locations we visited. If there is a cliff why not fall off it? This went on for a few days until finally the director (David Reynolds) and I sat down and he asked me to coordinate stunts and we began playing with the ideas to give the movie that additional pizzazz. From that moment everything changed.

I brought my stage combat experience and willingness to experiment to the table and soon we were moving away from simply chase sequences to high octane fire fights and a motorcycle gag which culminated in my being dragged through a warehouse at high speed before being thrown off into a metal bar.

As with all low/no budget features Zombies was as much about the journey as it was about the initial idea and the thanks to the input of countless individuals it is now bigger and better than any of us could of imagined.

I feel proud that my input helped this process along but as with all good stunt work my role was to move the story along and add excitement not detract from the product as a whole.

If you watch Zombies you'll see fights and you may wince at some bone crunching moments but nothing will stand out as a gag or having been done purely for its own sake everything builds to the larger product and that is what I am most proud of. It is not about showing off but simply helping already talented people achieve their goal of a quality flick.

If you feel your production needs that additional dimension then please visit my website www.markrudnick.com and lets continue making great films with great people.

THE HORROR-BLE WORLD OF ZOMBIE MAKE UP

BODY PARTS !!!

GET EM WHILE THEYRE HOT

Sammm Agnew is a London based Makeup and FX designer able to loan out or sell any realistic body part imaginable from her studio, if it isn't in stock it can be created to exact specifications to fit your project perfectly. Sammm originally developed an interest in make up artistry through working in face painting and creating outrageous hair and make up designs for members of the London fetish/alternative club scene.

This led her to create more experimental looks using a wider range of materials, and to combine her artistic practice with on skin application. Earning her honours degree at The London College of Fashion in Costume, Technical Effects and Make up she was able to explore more advanced types of prop design and production through the use of mould making, carpentry skills and metal work.

Her adeptness in this wide range of disciplines enables her to easily source the right technique and material needed for any related project.

Sammm Agnew has been professionally commissioned to design and create work for high profile clients since 2006.
