Festive Zombies...

Christmas is not a time traditionally associated with the Living Dead, but we at The Zombie Times have decided that this should all change... We are fed up with simply receiving another copy of the re-coloured version of Night of the Living Dead or something associated with Twilight cause Auntie Bev has heard you like Vampires...

So here is the first festive edition of the Zombie Times, crammed full of awesome zombie bits that you will die for... From minimates to money boxes, Food Moulds to Film Making Kits and from DVDs to e-books & apps, if you have 69p or £69 then there will something here for you!

Either email this to your head-scratching relatives or simply save up your Christmas money and work out what zombie madness you are going to blow it all on...

If you have a film, book, event, graphic novel or zombiewalk planned for 2013 then let us know, even if you are simply releasing a range of pep-hole zombie undies, let us know and we will spread the word...

So from everyone here at Terror4fun, have an awesome Festive Period, a Ghoulish New Year and thanks to you all who subscribe to this E-Zine, follow us on Twitter or Facebook, or who have come to one of our events... We can promise you more gore and zombie based fun in 2013... Including a special short film making competition being launched early Spring, with truly gore-some prizes !!!

Established in 2010 Shock Horror Magazine is a printed Horror Entertainment publication, printed every two months in glossy full colour front to back. The magazine covers all aspects of Horror entertainment and culture including film, comics, tattoos, music, games, art and more. Shock Horror is proud to include many well known names in the industry amongst our team, from Scream Queens Suzi Lorraine and Sarah French to FX artist Mike Peel and author Dustin LaValley. We aim to put Horror back on the map in the UK, sure it's underground & trashy but that's just the way we like it!

Shock Horror Magazine recently released the front cover for the 13th Edition in print, featuring an exclusive piece of cover artwork by artist Daniel Mercer! Daniel Mercer has created the Rob Zombie cover to celebrate an exclusive interview inside the issue, discussing Rob Zombies upcoming film Lords of Salem as well as his live tour, accompanied by a review of the bands current tour.

This issue also includes an interview with Manborg Director Steven Kostanski discussing the sci-fi / Horror mashup, as well as an interview with acclaimed author Edward Lee and Cradle of Filth front man and star of Cradle of Fear Dani Filth as he discusses the bands new album. For fans of classic Horror this issue also includes a feature on Classic Horror kicking off with Christmas Chillers as well as an interview with the man of the issue himself Daniel Mercer. The usual features with Scream Queens Suzi Lorraine & Sarah French are included as are the regular book, games, DVD, comic and music reviews.

If you love Horror movies and everything that goes with them then grab the new issue or better yet subscribe so you never miss an issue & score a free DVD! Visit the Official Shock Horror website to order yourself or a Horror fan a subscription to Shock Horror Magazine this Christmas

OUTPOST FRANCHISE RISES AGAIN

We are delighted to announce principal photography has begun on the third instalment of the OUTPOST franchise, THE RISE OF THE SPETNAZ. The film shoots on location in Glasgow and Yorkshire.

Kieran Parker (Outpost, Outpost: Black Sun) directs from a script penned by Rae Brunton (Outpost, Outpost: Black Sun). The cast includes Bryan Larkin (Battleground) as the lead Russian Dolokhov, and James "The Colossus" Thompson – Ultimate Combat World Heavy Weight Champion as The Berserker.

In the third instalment of the hit Nazi Zombie action horror movie, Outpost: Rise Of The Spetnaz, we discover the horrifying origins of these supernatural soldiers and see them in ferocious gladiatorial battle against the most ruthless and notorious of all military special forces: the Russian Spetsnaz.

Produced by Arabella Page Croft and Kieran Parker for Black Camel Pictures and Executive Produced by Nigel Thomas from Matador Pictures and Jamie Carmichael from Content, the film is backed by Matador Pictures, Creative Scotland, Creative Film Finances and SWSSC. Producer Arabella Page Croft said: "It's an exciting time at Black Camel. Kieran is the passionate creative producer behind the OUTPOST world and he has long wanted to tell an origins story. It is a natural progression for him to move behind the camera as director so we are all delighted to support his ambitions".

Matador's Nigel Thomas said 'Matador are delighted to be involved in the third film in the Outpost series and to be working with such a hugely talented team. Making a prequel to the highly successful Outpost and recently completed Outpost: Black Sun provides an exciting opportunity for us to return to this popular zombie Nazi franchise.' Content's Jamie Carmichael said: "It's a fantastic achievement to have created a three film franchise, as that doesn't happen very often in the UK. It's a testament to the tenacity of the film makers and the quality and strength of the brand they have created. And it's great to be a part of it."

WATCH THIS SHORT FILM KEBAB KILLER !!!

On a bitterly cold Saturday night, as gusty showers lashed the Theatre Royal Margate, dark figures gathered outside as the visitors began to arrive, scurrying through dark streets, shivering with the unexpected chill... over 200 Horror film fans converged in Margate for the latest and best "2 Days Later" Short Film Competition Screenings, as part of the Margate Halloween Horror Feast-ival. All the evenings results are on the website http://www.2dayslater.co.uk/dare/news/n2012/pr\_awards.html

Terror4fun sponsored the Audience Vote and here is the Winner! Not its not got Zombies in it, but its sick as fuck and truly amazing what can be achieved in a short horror film... Pissed up dining will never be the same again...

The coveted Audience Vote for MOST POPULAR SHORT-LISTED film went to Bristol filmmaker, Santosh Mohan Veeranki, for the clever and terrifying Kebab Killer which, not undeservedly, also won BEST GORE. The unforgettably menacing performance as the avuncular kebab shop owner won Nigel Long the BEST ACTOR.

THE 6TH UK FESTIVAL OF ZOMBIE CULTURE

Held in Leicester on November 17th, 2012 at PHOENIX SQUARE

The scabs have healed over, the blood has been steam cleaned out of the carpets at the Phoenix Square, the bar has been restocked, the guests have returned to their homes and the staff are beginning to return to their normal habits after this sell out event that had them on their toes dealing with the living dead for more than 13 hours...

The thirteen hours of films included a Preview Screening of the Arrow Film Re-Mastered ZOMBIE FLESH EATERS, a programme of short films including the UK Premiere of MURALIM (poisoned) which is Israel's first zombie film, alongside BUMBLOODS, THE VELVET ROAD and THE END. These were followed up a screening of awesome new zombie film BEFORE DAWN introduced by director Dominic Brunt, followed by a Q&A and a screening of THE ESCHATRILOGY, another UK film introduced by director Damian Morter, then into the home straight we had another UK Premiere, this was GANGSTERS, GUNS AND ZOMBIES, introduced again by its director, this time the awesome Matt Mitchell and we closed the film side of the event with the 'must see' zombie film of the year... COCKNEYS Vs Zombies...

The special guests this year included a total of five, YES, five authors including event regular and genre veteran David Moody to Luke Duffy, author of two awesome zombie books, but at his very first signing event!

Charlie 'Fast Show' Higson came down to do a half hour talk about his new book 'The Sacrifice' and to talk about his love of scaring children!!!

Also in the mix for this year, was the usual selection of entertainment, NOT on the big screen... There was Retroactives 'Arcade of the Dead' with House of the Dead 1 to 4 on consoles with Zombie Black Ops, Stubbs the Zombie, Zombies ate my Neighbours and the event favourite 'Typing of the Dead.' Gavin Gore and his make up team raised plenty of money for Help for Heroes by making people into zombies for a small donation to charity and with 'The FleshKrafter,' 'ZombieShop' and Terror4fun al trading in different selections of Zombie Goodies, there was plenty to do in between the films too...

Best dressed zombie was tough to call with so many people going that extra mile, until Paul Ewen started shambling about with a massive pole through his chest, many folks agreed that dressing up to the extent that you can't sit down for 13 hours, was going above and beyond the call of duty and so he did win a copy of Last Night on Earth...

Next years events are still in the planning phase which includes a Zombie Short Film competition, the 7th UK Festival of Zombie Culture and some other bits and pieces...

AND FINALLY, Thanks to everyone that helped in any way shape or form that has not been mentioned yet, which of course includes Paul 'Bignall' Dignall, Maz 'Bad' Penny, Hazel 'Badd' Gadd, Laura from Melton and my lovely wife Sam, that had put up with tonnes of zombie stuff over the years... Oh, and Jake from the Phoenix, who I promised to lick!

ZOMBIE UNDERGROUND HAS APP APPEAL

London Underground turns us all into commuting zombies and now is the time to effect revenge with a gut-busting new iPhone app called 'Zombie Underground'! Priced at just 69p from the App Store, the journey of the living dead is yours to relive with this awesome app!

Find your inner Zombie and join the undead in their eternal quest into commuter hell, annihilating anyone that gets in your way using vibrant, responsive, kickass moves. Moans and groans are a common experience on the tube, only this time your neighbour may be more lifeless than normal. Uniquely seen through the eyes of a commuter you can vent all those commuting frustrations out on your fellow zombie passengers and see if you have the moves that will be the undoing of the undead!

Priced at just 69p and available from the App store, Zombie Underground just made commuting bearable, or not as the case may be!

ZOMBIE HOOD, ZOMBIE HOOD RIDING THROUGH THE GLEN

Zombie Hood is a feature film that has been produced by local talent in and around the East Midlands area.

Zombie Hood begins on the eve of a worldwide zombie outbreak with a small group of survivors escaping the city. After gathering in a nearby forest and with food being in short supply, the survivors must risk visiting populated areas in an effort to avoid starvation.

With a child and an elderly man in tow and with the undead waiting at every turn, the group attempt to put aside their differences as they battle to survive a nightmare scenario.

Zombie Hood began pre-production in 2010, which involved putting a crew together and casting the actors. Filming is ongoing with an expected early 2013 release. While the majority of scenes have been shot in the Nottingham area, we have also filmed in Mansfield, Derby and a few other local areas.

Filming was completed at the end of June 2012 and has now moved into post production. The film is self funded by the cast and crew. For tonnes more info and details just head to: www.zombiehood.co.uk

Pots of Fake Blood

I am a special effects makeup artist who has worked on several horror films, horror role playing events, major movie advertising for Sony's Resident Evil Franchise & much more. This is my own personal tried and tested fake blood. It is very thick and sticky and remains constantly fresh and wet looking for the entire time you are using it. It is all natural ingredients so it is NON TOXIC & great if you want it drooling out of your mouth. This blood has been for sale for the past 2 years and I have already received a lot of emails requesting more this year. Click the link below for our EBay link...

GANGSTERS, GUNS AND ZOMBIES

DVD out in January, from Lionsgate... At the UK Premiere of GG&Z in November, at the UK Festival of Zombie Culture, the crowd approached the film with caution... It was our mystery screening, announced only a week before the event, and the organised had watched the trailer, the dis-organised just did not know what to expect... It went down an absolute storm, it was introduced by Matt Mitchell, the director, and afterwards people streamed out of the cinema saying things, "surprise hit of the festival" and "where the hell has that been hiding?"

The whole "zombie thing" has been hyped up so much that everyone thinks it's the end of the world! Of course, where one man sees the dead rising from the grave, another sees opportunity. Q had a plan: drive the robbery getaway van, deliver everyone to the safe house and get paid - a nice, simple, plan. Unfortunately, life is never really that simple, and to top it all off, this is the first time Q has been a getaway driver. He's coping pretty well though, considering; TONY (the guy who is 'in charge' of the job) is a murderous nut case, DANNY was shot and is now bleeding all over the money in the back of the van, the Sat-Nav has a mind of its own, there's a guy in the back living up to his name "CRAZY STEVE", the safe-house already has police at it, and this whole "zombie thing" seems to be quickly becoming more of a "zombie apocalypse thing". Q and the others have to deal with a recently zombie-fied medieval re-enactment group, a football team that seem hell bent on eating their brains and the van running out of fuel. Not bad for a night's work.

Some men are born into shit-storms, some achieve shit-storms, and some have shit-storms thrust upon them. Q is up to his neck in this one and must now take charge of the group in order to save his own skin - not to mention the much more attractive skin of CASSIE. Finally reaching the coast, the new group must figure out a way off this crazy island - lack of sailing know-how and the walking dead notwithstanding. Just when things couldn't get any worse, one of them suffers an accident and lands Q with a dilemma. In the one hand he holds his own life and in the other the lives of the group. Who does he choose?

THE DEAD RISES AGAIN

The Ford Brothers, the team behind the acclaimed 'modern Classic' zombie thriller 'The Dead', have revealed that the much awaited sequel 'The Dead 2' will be shot in India. Chatting to the audience at the Fright-Fest Halloween All-nighter, Howard Ford unveiled a teaser trailer shot on a recent location recce and said that the film, for which the screenplay is now completed, is anticipated to start production in February/ March 2013.

Howard went on to say: "Jon and I have been receiving so much enthusiasm and demand for a sequel we owe it to the fans of 'The Dead 1' to deliver something that goes way beyond what we could achieve first time around and the starting point was to find the most stunning and varied landscapes where we have not seen the dead walk before".

His brother Jon added: "Part 2 has to be another journey movie with varied terrains but challenges for our main characters that contain all of the gritty detail that people liked from the first film. There will be a lot more action and more scares along the way but we don't want to lose any of the little details that kept it feeling real".

ZOMBIE COMEDY LITERATURE

By John E Normal. Author of "Land Down Undead", <http://www.landdownundead.com>

It could well be the most obscure genre of literature ever created, but zombie comedy is a distinct art form in and of itself, and its literary canon is growing. From the very beginnings of zombie entertainment zombies have been inherently funny, they are hideous and terrifying creatures as well, but many of their other features are comical. For example, their awkward gaits (in most incarnations) are similar to Monty Python's Ministry of Silly Walks. Their profound stupidity (in most representations) renders them similar to something from The Three Stooges or The Benny Hill Show. These may not be the absolute pinnacle of humorous entertainment, but they are by and large funny.

We see these comical elements as far back as the work of George Romero, where uncoordinated zombies stumble around in their appalling seventies fashions. Many of them caught grinning at the edges of the shot or far off in the distance. There is a slap stick element to the behaviour of all of the undead, they are unable to competently perform many basic actions, it is only their sheer numbers that create a large problem for the human survivors.

Zombie films are also generally full of one-line wisecracks that play on the unease with which the characters are adapting to the incredible social shift that a zombie plague unleashes. The zombie apocalypse provides an opportunity to reflect on the nature of the society which is in the process of being unravelled. The manner in which this unravelling occurs tells us a great deal about human nature, as individuals and within a collective.

In recent times zombie comedy has become far more explicit with the creation of films like Shaun of the Dead and Zombieland, both of which manage to generate thoroughly unique jokes despite being set in similar circumstances. Shaun of the Dead takes the inherently slapstick nature of the undead and teases it out to its limits. The results is a film that could almost have been made by Monty Python. Zombieland has a much blacker humour, exemplified no better than in the cameo scene where Bill Murray playing himself is shot for being dressed up as a zombie. He forgives his murderer with a small quip and leaves the audience puzzled and amused.

The now best-selling books of Max Brooks are also heavily invested with humour. Mr Brooks uses the zombie apocalypse to delve deeply into social and political issues that affect the world today. As such, the humour is subtle and thoroughly un-slapstick. This is probably the most sophisticated zombie literature that has ever been created, it is well researched and invested with a deep understanding of the world we live in.

If you are convinced by my assessment of the intellectual value of these entries in the zombie canon, you may still be asking yourself: "Why would anyone bother trying to write meaningful literature about something as ridiculous as zombies?"

This is an extremely interesting question. On the surface the entire idea seems preposterous. People get bitten and infected with a disease which kills them, rewires their mind somehow and then reanimates their corpses so they can run around biting others. It spreads until almost no one is left who isn't a zombie.

There are a number of reasons why I believe the zombie apocalypse is an effective and revealing literary device. First of all it allows us to tell a story in a world which is familiar to the reader: houses, supermarkets, malls, cars and streets are the world of the reader. Just one little change by the author and the meaning and significance of all of these elements has changed. That one thing is the creation of a disease which changes human beings into flesh craved monsters. The details of how this change are achieved can be flexible giving rise to versions in which people die and are reanimated, and others where people are simply infected.

The fact that what has changed to make the world so different is in fact human beings themselves, is the other reason that this literary device is so captivating. It allows an exploration of the boundary between humans and other animals. It allows us to investigate the limits of human morality, identity and ultimately what it is that we are. When we are just a handful of neurological changes away from becoming a monstrosity it is hard to cling to any notion of our inherent superiority. In short, zombie comedy is an art form that entertains and stimulates. It attacks our basic beliefs about who we are, our own social environment, and it challenges us to see life in its truly fleeting nature. The simultaneous comedic and terrifying nature of the genre places us in such an unusual mind-set that we are able to receive ideas about ourselves and the world that we might otherwise resist.

BEST ZOMBIE WEB SERIES EVER???

BUMBLOODS

Bumbloods is a four part miniseries about two unlikely roommates trying to survive during a zombie apocalypse. All four parts were screened throughout the UK Festival of Zombie Culture and the reaction was overwhelmingly positive...

WANT TO BE THE COOL KID?
TELL YOUR FRIENDS
about BUMBLOODS!
THEY WILL LOVE YOU FOR IT!

When a new, synthetic drug hits the streets, 90% of the human population is suddenly transformed into flesh eating zombies. Dr. Jeremy "JERMS" Madison and his roommate Mario "KREPE" Krepeli find themselves in the middle of a zombie infested world and this "odd couple" must learn to cohabitate despite their differences and the ever growing horde of undead around them. The odd couple consists of....

Dr. Jeremy "JERMS" Madison: Born and raised in Peoria, Illinois. He is currently doing his residency at Beth Israel Memorial Hospital. He's been working in the ER for a little over a year, and thinks he's seen the worst of what can happen to people. Time will prove him wrong. He moved to New York City with his longtime girlfriend, Grace. They don't live together, though... not until he puts a ring on her finger. Jerms met his future roommate, Steve, while treating him for dehydration after he partied a little too hard at a rave. At the time, Jerms was couch hopping, but soon after, moved in with Steve. There turned out to a third roommate, Mario "KREPE" Krepeli. Needless to say, their lifestyles clash. Jerms does his best to spend as little time around Krepe as possible. He has been considering moving out for months, but doesn't want to let down his roommates.

Mario "KREPE" Krepeli: Born in Gainesville, Florida but raised all over the country, Krepe eventually ended up in New York where he attended Fordham University and created his own major of Taste Testing. He is the only child of a surgeon and a litigator, yet was often left alone, disabling him from having any relationship with anyone in his life (friendship or intimate). He is the true definition of a loner, addicted to video games and pornography (magazines, not that internet junk). He met his roommate Steve, while searching for an apartment on craigslist. When Steve realized that the two could not afford the apartment, Dr. Jeremy "JERMS" Madison moved in to pick up the slack. Krepe doesn't have any issues with his roommates because he simply lacks any motivation to care about anything or anyone, but time could change that.

When a professor's Christmas experiment goes horribly wrong, it's up to the University's Janitor to mop up the mess... But dealing with the festive chaos of the undead is no job for one man alone... United by terrifying and bizarre circumstances, the janitor, the drunk, the bartender, the cop, his perp, and the student security guard must fight to undo the professor's work. A dark force is at work in the cadaver lab this Christmas and this unconventional band of heroes are the only hope the world has against an army of living corpses that are quickly recruiting new members. The undead have been given the gift of life and it's up to the janitor to take it back.

Out now on DVD from Boulevard Entertainment...

COCKNEYS VS ZOMBIES

As contractors to an East London building site unlock a 350-year old vault full of seriously hungry zombies, the East End has suddenly gone to hell and the cockney way of life is under threat. Equipped with all the guns and ammo they can carry, a group of bank robbers led by Katy (Michelle Ryan) are London's only hope of saving East London from a zombie Armageddon and their grandparents from an Old Peoples Home being slowly overrun by the Living Dead... Following its premiere at Frightfest and subsequent DVD release, this has been probably the most talked about UK Zombie Film of 2012... Not only does it boast and unusual cast including Alan Ford (Brick Top from Snatch), a national institution in Richard Briers, an ex-Bond Girl in Honor Blackman and an ex-soap star in Michelle Ryan, but its slightly over the top and overwhelming setting is awesome, the switches between the bank robbing 'youf' and the besieged 'olds.'

Studio-Canal have brought this movie to us on DVD & Blu-Ray and its available now from Amazon.

EXCLUSIVE NEW RESTORATION OF LUCIO FULCI'S GORESOME, EYE-POPPING ZOMBIE HORROR MASTERPIECE!

Following its big screen airing at the UK Festival of Zombie Culture, where the audience was truly stunned by the quality of this restored version of the classic movie. Arrow Video have now released of Lucio Fulci's horror masterpiece Zombie Flesh Eaters on Blu-ray, DVD and Limited Edition Steelbook.

An abandoned boat in New York Harbour unleashes a deadly flesh crazed Zombie cargo... A Young American woman and a journalist investigate a tropical island where a deadly disease is making the dead walk... Soon, thoughts of getting to the bottom of the murderous curse will be forgotten, as Fulci's walking corpses overwhelm the living and reports come in that the Big Apple is swarming with the living dead...

Painstakingly restored from the original camera negative, Zombie Flesh Eaters stands out as one of the famed distributor's biggest ever (and best looking) restoration projects. These landmark releases will contain a wealth of special features, additional collector's material and never-before-seen extras, including optional English / Italian opening titles, a UK exclusive introduction to the film from lead actor Ian McCulloch, and a number of brand new featurettes.

Available as a Limited Edition Steelbook (complete with limited edition Artwork), Limited Edition Slipbox (with 4 alternate artworks –available exclusively from www.arrowfilms.co.uk), and as standard edition Blu-ray and DVD, the complete list of the special features included in these highly anticipated Zombie Flesh Eaters releases can be found on the AMAZON site listed above.

Hailing from the now infamous "Video Nasty" era of horror films, Zombie Flesh Eaters became an unstoppable cult hit upon its release in 1979. The film divided opinion across the globe and came up against opposition in many territories for the sheer amount of bloody content and its high gore-factor. The original cut of Zombie Flesh Eaters was banned in the UK upon release, and the film that appeared in cinemas was an edited version with a full 2 minutes of brutality stripped out to get past the classification board. These new high definition restored editions contain the full unedited film, as Fulci made them to be seen.

From the sleazy video nasty vaults comes a movie so stained with controversy and moral indignation that the very mention of its name sends shudders down the spines of the weak stomachs and censorious – Zombie Flesh Eaters. A gut-munching, shark wrestling, eye-gouging orgy of topless skin divers, mud-caked undead terror and Italian splatter from the dark imagination of horror genius Lucio Fulci (The Beyond, City of The Living Dead).

DAVID MOODY BRINGS THE AUTUMN SERIES TO A DEVASTATING CONCLUSION WITH AFTERMATH!

AUTUMN: AFTERMATH - published by Gollancz, available from Amazon, Book Depository, most branches of Waterstones etc. Five novels, a movie, an audio adaptation and more than 100,000 words of free zombie fiction! A vicious, virulent disease destroys more than 99% of the world's population in a single day. Before the handful of survivors that remain can even begin to come to terms with what has happened, the disease strikes again, and all hell breaks loose. Learn more at www.lastoftheliving.net

It's been almost one hundred days since a killer disease wiped out 99% of the population. Three months since the dead reanimated. Survivors are few and far between now, and those who remain stick together to give themselves the best possible chance of continuing to stay alive. They are the last of the living. A band of refugees has taken shelter in a medieval castle - a fortress that has stood strong for hundreds of years. Besieged by the dead, they only emerge when it's absolutely necessary. As autumn turns to winter, however, the balance of power slowly begins to shift. The unexpected appearance of survivors from another group changes everything. They bring choice, and an alternative way of life which is a far cry from the world everyone has been forced to leave behind. Society as we know it has crumbled beyond repair and things will never be the same again. Some people are ready to embrace this change, others can't let go of the past. The choice is divisive. Are we entering mankind's final days? In the aftermath of the disease, will the last survivors destroy each other, or will the dead destroy them all?

"Takes the genre in a fascinating new direction. If John Wyndham was alive and wrote zombie novels, they'd read like this."
--Jonathan Maberry, best-selling author of Patient Zero and Rot & Ruin.

Walking Dead Zombie Vinyl Bust Bank

Save your money for a brainy day! Whether your financial goal is a baseball bat, a samurai sword or a mobile home, you can keep your money in this 8-inch vinyl bank depicting a "lurker" from Robert Kirkman's long-running horror comic book series The Walking Dead. Perched atop the book's famous logo, with a change slot in his back, this gruesome character will keep any weak-stomached looters from plundering your stockpile.

Walking Dead Minimates

Robert Kirkman's Walking Dead comic book has gone and become a legend in its own right, and DST has a whole new series of highly detailed Minimates minifigures! The first series, included Rick with One-Armed Zombie, Herd Zombie Two-Pack, Dale with Female Zombie, Winter Coat Dale with Roamer Zombie (Rare variant). The new series 2 assortment of two-packs once again mixes humans and zombies, and includes Michonne with Zombie, a Herd Zombie 2-pack, Andrea with Zombie, and rare variant of Andrea's doomed sister Amy with Zombie! Toys R Us have their own exclusive figures available. Each Minimate stands 2 inches tall with 14 points of articulation and a variety of removable and interchangeable parts and accessories. Series 1 and Series 2 of the Walking Dead Mini-Mates are available now! Order the specialty assortment today from your local comic shop or your favorite online retailer!

Walking Dead Silicone Tray & Gelatine Mould

Whether you love the comic book, the TV show or the taste of human flesh in your mouth, it's never been a better time to be a Walking Dead fan. The third season is a winner, and the comic book is still going strong after 100 issues, which means there's an opportunity almost every week for us to immerse ourselves in the zombie apocalypse! Luckily, Diamond Select Toys has come up with a couple of nifty items that will add a little something-something to that new comic book or new episode. The Walking Dead Silicone Tray lets you cast up chunks of ice, chocolate or gelatine in the shape of zombie body parts, as well as the famous Walking Dead comic book logo -- perfect for snack time with the latest issue of TWD. And the Walking Dead Silicone Gelatine Mould reproduces a quivering 9" by 5" zombie head in whatever colour gelatine you like. Turn any dinner into a dinner party, and any dinner party into a night of unspeakable horror!

FOR THOSE IN PERIL ON THE SEA

After a six week voyage across the Atlantic, they couldn't wait to get to shore. When they got there, they found the land would never be safe again... There was nothing to suggest it would be anything other than a routine delivery. Four people thrown together by chance, sailing a newly-built catamaran from South Africa to Miami. But while they were away, something happened, something none of them could ever have imagined. When they get back to civilisation, they find it no longer exists. The land is no longer safe. Their only option is to stay on the boat and try to survive. Join Bill, Rob, Jon and CJ as they travel around their frightening new world. One where they must struggle against the infected that now rule the land, the elements and each other.

The book will be available from this link from 3rd January 2013, it will be on Amazon.com - or as an ebook - until the March 2013. As a bit for further information, Colin will be posting extracts from the book (first three chapters) on his blog (<http://cmdrysdale.wordpress.com/>) between the 26th and 31st December 2012. ## ZOMBIE MESSIAH BY ERIC MEAD

This story is 30 pgs in which Eric attempts to re-invent the zombie story while keeping faithful to George Romero's original shambling undead killing machine.

Re-Ans, a.k.a. Re-Animated Corpses, are on the march. The Military has launched a massive counter attack, and the healthy are caught in the middle. Newlyweds Jaime and Foley along with their grandmother, a retired Marine, must act quickly or die. Luckily for them, Grandma is prepared and raring to kill. Unfortunately, nothing could prepare them for the true horror of the outbreak. Or what they would have to do to save the people they love.

Mixing horror, humor, and heartbreak, ZOMBIE MESSIAH takes you to the places most are afraid of, and asks you, the reader, a simple question; How far would you go to save the people you love?

URBAN TERRORS NEW BRITISH HORROR CINEMA 1997-2008

Book by MJ Simpson, foreword by Sean Pertwee

Plenty of Zombie Movies can be found in this book from long time supporter and friend of Terror4fun, MJ Simpson... If you have never read any of his work then it must mean you have never bought a genre magazine, ever !!!!

As far as his first book about horror goes... By the late 1990s, the Golden Age of British Horror Cinema was long gone. But like all the best monsters, the genre has risen from the grave and in the 21st century is going from strength to strength.

Developments in video technology and changes in distribution have seen a tenfold increase in the number of British horror films made and released each year. From major studio pictures like 28 Days Later and Shaun of the Dead to cult indies like Freak Out and The Last Horror Movie, the new millennium is a boom time for home-grown horror. And many of these new films are contemporary, socially relevant tales reflecting life in modern Britain; instead of creepy castles, their monsters and psychos stalk housing estates and tower blocks...

Urban Terrors: New British Horror Cinema is the first book to fully examine the British horror film revival, documenting and analysing 114 movies which were commercially released between 1997 and 2008. It reveals how changes in technology have enabled more people to make films, how changes in distribution – from VHS to DVD to VOD – are enabling more people to watch them, and how the mainstream media has failed to spot and comment upon this phenomenon. And it examines how these new kinds of horror films have dealt with issues like disenfranchised youth, class division and social exclusion...

About MJ... MJ Simpson has been writing professionally for more than 20 years. In 1995 he co-founded SFX and served as Staff Writer, then Deputy Editor, for the magazine's first three years. As a freelancer, he has written for Fangoria, Video Watchdog, Shivers, Total Film, Monsterscene, Little Shoppe of Horrors, Film Review, Monster Attack Team, Starburst, Cult TV, Movie Collector, TV Zone, Doctor Who Magazine, Hammer Horror, Psychotronic Video and many other titles.

Praise for MJ Simpson from top British horror directors
 • "Mike has covered my career from my first feature as MFX artist I, Zombie to my directorial debut The Seasoning House, and it's during this time I have come to know him as the foremost expert in the genre." Paul Hyett: The Seasoning House

• "All hail writer MJ Simpson and his incredible passion and contribution to the British horror scene." Alex Chandon: Cradle of Fear, Inbred

• "MJ Simpson is the true Indiana Jones of the indie horror scene. He's your perfect guide to unearth the bloody gems that prove horror in all its gory glory is alive and screaming in the UK." Jake West: Evil Aliens, Doghouse

Available from www.hemlockbooks.co.uk along with tonnes of other horror mags, books and bits and pieces any horror fan or collector would love!

THE HORROR-BLE WORLD OF ZOMBIE MAKE UP

THE LONGEST ROAD

Join Steve, Collin, Alex, Billy and Mike. A group of cousins surviving through the aftermath of a pandemic infection of unknown origin. Once contracted, the disease is irreversibly fatal, but its victims don't stay dead for long. Eventually the dead return to life, but all elements of humanity are replaced by ravenous cannibalistic tendencies. After fleeing their homes in up-state New York, the cousins take to the safety of the road, where they travel west-bound to the rumored "safe-zone" of California. Every day is a fight to stay alive; whether scavenging for essentials or engaging in nerve racking battles with the relentless undead. Every stop they make is filled with surprises, twists and turns as their lives are now a roller-coaster being driven by hope and shadowed by despair. Feel their heartache. Experience their triumphs. Follow them as their journey across the wasteland that was once the United States. Ride alongside this family as they search for safety on The Longest Road.

Available from AMAZON.COM

About the author... Growing up in southern California, A.S. Thompson has always loved entertainment. Whenever possible, he enjoys writing and filming movies and helping friends out with their projects. In a screen writing class in college he discovered a new passion-writing. When it comes to writing music, books or film, he is always looking for originality, that new sound or idea that is going to set himself apart.

His first book, The Longest Road, was created out of his love for the horror genre. To him, there's nothing like the suspense and thrill of reading a horror novel or watching a scary movie...the heart pounding, the spine tingling, and that part in the back of your head that wonders what will happen next...

Festive Games...

To the Death !!!

Aunt Petunia has given you cash for Christmas and some friends are coming over for a festive drink and some zombie based fun... There is a problem though... You only have enough money for 1 Zombie Game... So which one should you buy?

ZOMBIES!!!

A simple game where players are people trapped in a town full of zombies. First to make it to the heliport or kill 25 zombies wins. Cards are used to represent events in the game such as finding weapons or zombies. Simple counters are used to keep track of certain aspects of the game. The game comes with 100 little zombie miniatures.

Price: £23.99

Best game for: Lots of 8 mates
Not having to concentrate too much
Plastic Characters and Zombies

Worst Game for: Getting a bit stuck towards the end of the game

BUY THIS IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR YOUR FIRST ZOMBIE BOARD GAME. IT IS STILL THE CLASSIC.

CITY OF HORROR

City of Horror is a backstabbing survival-horror game. As in classic zombie movies, a shambling horde is invading the city. The goal is to survive the assault. (Un)fortunately, surviving often means sacrificing some of your fellow players to the undead... Each player controls several characters and critical situations, such as zombies breaking in and eating a character, are resolved using vote.

Price: £39.99

Best game for:
Negotiating and Diplomacy
Re-Model of Mall of Horror

Worst Game for:
Lack of Plastic Zombies
Using strategy and tactics

BUY THIS IF YOU WANT SOMETHING A BIT MORE INTERACTIVE (GROWN UP)

LAST NIGHT ON EARTH

This game that pits small-town Heroes head-to-head against a limitless horde of Zombies. A modular board randomly determines the layout of the town at the start of each game and there are several different scenarios to play, adding lots of replayability. Fast Paced Game Play with Easy To Learn rules allows players to jump right into the action, while Strategic Depth and Strong Cooperative Play keeps the game interesting.
